1.
Hear the sledges with the bells—
   Silver bells!
   What a world of merriment their melody foretells!
   How they tinkle, tinkle, tinkle,
   In the icy air of night!
   While the stars that oversprinkle
   All the Heavens, seem to twinkle
   With a crystalline delight;
   Keeping time, time, time,
   In a sort of Runic rhyme,
   To the tintinnabulation that so musically wells
   From the bells, bells, bells, bells—
   From the jingling and the tinkling of the bells.

2.
Hear the mellow wedding bells—
   Golden bells!
   What a world of happiness their harmony foretells!
   Through the balmy air of night
   How they ring out their delight!—
   From the molten-golden notes,
   And all in tune,
   What a liquid ditty floats
   To the turtle-dove that listens, while she gloats
   On the moon!
   Oh, from out the sounding cells,
   What a gush of euphony voluminously wells!
   How it swells!
   How it dwells
   On the Future!—how it tells
   Of the rapture that impels
   To the swinging and the ringing
   Of the bells, bells, bells!—
   Of the bells, bells, bells, bells,
   Bells, bells, bells—
   To the rhyming and the chiming of the bells!
3.

Hear the loud alarum bells—
Brazen bells!
What a tale of terror, now, their turbulency tells!
In the startled ear of Night

How they scream out their affright!
Too much horrified to speak,
They can only shriek, shriek,
Out of tune,

In a clamorous appealing to the mercy of the fire—

In a mad expostulation with the deaf and frantic fire,
Leaping higher, higher, higher,
With a desperate desire
And a resolute endeavor
Now—now to sit, or never,

By the side of the pale-faced moon.
Oh the bells, bells, bells!
What a tale their terror tells
Of Despair!

How they clang, and clash, and roar!

What a horror they outpour
On the bosom of the palpitating air!
Yet the ear, it fully knows,
By the twanging
And the clanging

How the danger ebbs and flows:—
Yes, the ear distinctly tells,
In the jangling
And the wrangling,
How the danger sinks and swells,

By the sinking or the swelling in the anger of the bells—

Of the bells—
Of the bells, bells, bells, bells,
Bells, bells, bells—
In the clamor and the clangor of the bells.

4.

Hear the tolling of the bells—
Iron bells!
What a world of solemn thought their monody compels!
In the silence of the night
How we shiver with affright

At the melancholy menace of their tone!

For every sound that floats
From the rust within their throats
Is a groan.
And the people—ah, the people—

They that dwell up in the steeple
All alone,
And who, tolling, tolling, tolling,
In that muffled monotone
Feel a glory in so rolling
On the human heart a stone—
They are neither man nor woman—
They are neither brute not human,
They are Ghouls:—
And their king it is who tolls:—

And he rolls, rolls, rolls, rolls
Rolls
A Paean from the bells!
And his merry bosom swells
With the Paean of the bells!

And he dances, and he yells;
Keeping time, time, time,
In a sort of Runic rhyme,
To the Paean of the bells—
Of the bells:—

Keeping time, time, time
In a sort of Runic rhyme,
To the throbbing of the bells—
Of the bells, bells, bells—
To the sobbing of the bells

Keeping time, time, time,
As he knells, knells, knells,
In a happy Runic rhyme,
To the rolling of the bells—
Of the bells, bells, bells:—

To the tolling of the bells—
Of the bells, bells, bells, bells,
Bells, bells, bells—
To the moaning and the groaning of the bells.

Reading Questions: Use the above text to answer the following questions.

Comprehension:

1. In each of the four stanzas in this poem, Poe talks about four different types of bells. What are the four bells described in the poem? What do these bells represent?

2. In lines 36–46, what kind of event is the author describing? Describe the imagery in this scene. How is this a change in tone from the earlier descriptions of bells?

3. In lines 89–113, what role does “the king” play? Do you think the narrator is referring to a literal king or do you think the king is a metaphor for something else? Use evidence from the text to explain your reasoning.

Style:

1. The odd indentation of this poem was chosen specifically by Poe. How does formatting reflect the tone in each stanza and the poem overall?

2. Onomatopoeia is a literary term for words that sound like the noise they mean (e.g. when you say the word sizzle, it sounds a little like something sizzling). Identify three examples of onomatopoeia in “The Bells.” How does the use of onomatopoeia affect the imagery and tone of the poem?
3. Identify three examples of repetition in this poem. How does the repetition of certain words affect the tone? Why do you think the repetition increases over time?

4. Identify three examples where the bells are personified. Compare and contrast when the bells ring by themselves versus when they are rung by others.

Theme:

1. How does the overall tone of the poem shift over the course of the piece?

2. How would you describe the narrator of this poem?

3. Is this poem like other poems you have read? Do you enjoy reading this poem or is it jarring to read? Do you think Poe intentionally made this poem jarring?

4. Read the poem out loud. Does your understanding of poem change hearing it out loud? How did you read each stanza?
Research:

1. Sergei Rachmaninoff is a famous Russian composer who created a symphony inspired by “The Bells.” Listen to Rachmaninoff’s symphony and compare it to Poe’s poem. Does Rachmaninoff convey the same tone as Poe’s poem?
